The British and French Mandates

Attitude, Policy and Legacy

Reasons for the French Mandate

1) Fear of Russian and German encroachment
2) The French were important in Lebanon mainly because of its ties with the Christians
3) France's historic interest in the region
4) "Mission civilisatrice" (France's moral duty to bring the benefits of civilisation to the less advanced)
5) Economic importance of the Lebanese silk industry (but its importance declined in the 1920s)

Note

1) The principal interest of the French industrial establishment was representation rather than investment.
2) The way they approached both of the mandates in the "mission civilisatrice" of the white man's duty to educate the backward by their civilisation and key language as a model world, which was also used to break up an Arab sense of unity.
3) French key importance and political interests and a sense of moral purpose in Syria was not necessarily important to France as a strategic bastion. The French had no naval base in Lebanon as the U.K.
4) It was the French attitude to military bases having effected more than was the British.
5) France had never established much of a plan area because the people of the "mandated territories" had achieved relatively free elections over the years.

Policy

Divide and Rule

The French aim was to fragmentize Syria into a number of small states (approximately on religious lines) in order to weaken Arab nationalism.

Attitude

Mission Impossible

An attitude that established religious definition between people, planning sugar and agricultural development and French rule in Syria.

Territorial Policy

Communities

Position

Legacy

Hatayan Versus Iran

Hatayan is a western province on the Turkish-Syrian border. In 1921 the Lebanese and Syrian Arabs formed a majority of the population (with Kurds).

Reasons for the British Mandate

1) Both Sir Mueller and French encroachment
2) The indigenous attempt to Egypt and the route to India
3) Oil in the region (e.g. Mesopotamia and Kuwait, economic reasons, to be dealt with later)
4) British Mandate to be Arab Self Rule, Persian Gulf

Attitude

Statesmen Moments

The British attitude to the Iraq conflict, such position of the nations. The British intended the local allies were the beginning of participation for government and religious leaders.
- small and effective armed services

Policy

Main Concept

- small local agencies as the British Mandate
- economic development and planning (three

Position

Mainland, Coastline stable and/or stable

Legacy

Queen of Angels Catholic Church
4824 Jones Avenue Riverside, California 92505-1432
Ph. (951) 689-3674 • Fax. (951) 687-6146

Dear benefactors,

I remember the day I arrived to this blest parish of Queen of Angels which is now a little over nine years ago. At that time, I asked God to show me how to respond to the needs of this community, according to His will. What I heard was that there was not enough room for so many of the faithful in our little Church that is why we simultaneously transmit the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass from the Annex Center to the Church.

God needs a new home where he can receive all his children just as each of us is in constant need of God's help, protection and blessings. Today, He is counting on each and every one of us to continue the work of His hands.

Dear brothers and sisters we want to thank you for helping us to bring to reality God's dream of a new Church for our community. We have a great percentage of what is needed and we still need to raise money for pews.

A campaign to raise funds only has meaning if it is from God and for God. Every heart, more importantly than mere numbers, needs to be open to the longing for an encounter, of a profound experience of friendship with Jesus Christ.

With your generous donation of any amount, (big or small, one time or monthly) and with your sincere prayers, you can be a instrument of the world. As an Evangelizer, who reaches the ends of the Earth, taking the Good News to others, you can begin in our own community by helping to provide a place in which the Word is preached to all.

We invite you to be a part of this great project. Remember, not even King David had the privilege you have of building a house for God. But, shall not build a house unto my name, because thou hast shed much blood upon the earth in my sight." 1 Chronicles 22, 8-10. Those who give generously will receive generously. As Saint Paul said, "It was good of you to help me when I was going through difficulties. My God will fully satisfy every need of yours." (Philippians 4:14-19)

So join us! Help us in the best way possible to reach our goal of furnishing the pews for God's House.

Thus, I give permission to Celso Alegria to solicit donations from your business on behalf of Queen of Angels Catholic Church located at 4824 Jones Avenue, Riverside CA 92505.

In name of the Queen of Angels community, I thank you for any help that you are able to give for the construction of our New Church.

For your tax benefits, the Federal ID # is 95-3273901 / CA ID # is 910-1176

Thank you and God bless you

Form W-4 (2013)

Purpose. Complete Form W-4 so that your employer can withhold the correct federal income tax from your pay. Consider completing a new Form W-4 each year and when your personal or financial situation changes.

Exemption from withholding. If you are exempt, complete only lines 1, 2, 3, 4, and 7 and sign the form to validate it. Your exemption for 2013 expires February 17, 2014. See Pub. 505, Tax Withholding and Estimated Tax.

Note. If another person can claim you as a dependent on his or her tax return, you cannot claim exemption from withholding if your income exceeds $1,000 and includes more than $350 of unearned income (for example, interest and dividends).

Basic instructions. If you are not exempt, complete the Personal Allowances Worksheet below. The worksheets on page 2 further adjust your withholding allowances based on items such as deductions, certain credits, adjustments to income, or two-earners/multiple jobs situations.

Complete all worksheets that apply. However, you may claim fewer (or zero) allowances. For regular wages, withholding must be based on allowances you claimed and may not be a flat amount or percentage of wages.

Head of household. Generally, you can claim head of household filing status on your tax return only if you are unmarried and pay more than 50% of the costs of keeping up a home for yourself and your dependents or other qualifying individuals. See Pub. 501, Exemptions, Standard Deduction, and Filing Information, for information.

Tax credits. You can take projected tax credits into account in figuring your allowances number of withholding allowances. Credits for child or dependent care expenses and the child tax credit may be claimed using the Personal Allowances Worksheet below. See Pub. 505 for information on converting your other credits into withholding allowances.

Nonwage income. If you have a large amount of nonwage income, such as interest or dividends, consider making estimated tax payments using Form 1040-ES, Estimated Tax for Individuals. Otherwise, you may owe additional tax. If you have pension or annuity income, see Pub. 505 to find out if you should adjust your withholding on Form W-4 or W-4P.

Two earners or multiple jobs. If you have a working spouse or more than one job, figure the total number of allowances you are entitled to claim on all jobs using worksheets from only one Form W-4. Your withholding usually will be most accurate when all allowances are claimed on the Form W-4 for the highest paying job and zero allowances are claimed on the others. See Pub. 505 for details.

Nonresident alien. If you are a nonresident alien, see Notice 1392, Supplemental Form W-4 Instructions for Nonresident Aliens, before completing this form.

Check your withholding. After your Form W-4 takes effect, use Pub. 919 to see how the amount you are having withheld compares to your estimated total tax for 2013. See Pub. 505, especially if your earnings exceed $130,000 (Single) or $180,000 (Married).

Future developments. Information about any future developments affecting Form W-4 (such as legislation enacted after we release it) will be posted at www.irs.gov/w4.

Personal Allowances Worksheet (Keep for your records.)

A	Enter "1" for yourself if no one else can claim you as a dependent	A
	• You are single and have only one job; or
B	Enter "1" if: • You are married, have only one job, and your spouse does not work; or	B
	• Your wages from a second job or your spouse's wages (or the total of both) are $1,500 or less.
C	Enter "1" for your spouse. But, you may choose to enter "-0-" if you are married and have either a working spouse or more than one job. (Entering "-0-" may help you avoid having too little tax withheld.)	C
D	Enter number of dependents (other than your spouse or yourself) you will claim on your tax return	D
E	Enter "1" if you will file as head of household on your tax return (see conditions under Head of household above)	E

G	Child Tax Credit (including additional child tax credit). See Pub. 972, Child Tax Credit, for more information. • If your total income will be less than $65,000 ($95,000 if married), enter "2" for each eligible child; then less "1" if you have three to six eligible children or less "2" if you have seven or more eligible children. • If your total income will be between $65,000 and $84,000 ($95,000 and $119,000 if married), enter "1" for each eligible child.	G
H	Add lines A through G and enter total here. (Note. This may be different from the number of exemptions you claim on your tax return.) ▶	H

For accuracy, complete all worksheets that apply.

- If you plan to itemize or claim adjustments to income and want to reduce your withholding, see the Deductions and Adjustments Worksheet on page 2
- If you are single and have more than one job or are married and you and your spouse both work and the combined earnings from all jobs exceed $49,000 ($60,000 if married), see the Two-Earners/Multiple Jobs Worksheet on page 2 to avoid having too little tax withheld
- If neither of the above situations applies, stop here and enter the number from line H on line 5 of Form W-4 below.

Separate here and give Form W-4 to your employer. Keep the top part for your records.

Fax something interesting to 1-510 545-0990

To the right are pages that folks have faxed us recently. Click any thumbnail to see the large version and rate it for interestingness.

You can fax something interesting to 1-510 545-0990 (your boss will never notice maybe) and it should appear here within a couple of minutes. (The number is in Northern California USA. Long distance charges may apply.) Keep it clean & legal.

Fax single-page documents with no cover sheet. If you fax more than one page, only the last page will appear here. We try to snip off the top few pixels of the page where you company name and fax number should appear, but make no promises that this will actually work.

Get an e-mail alert when FaxToy receives a new fax.

INVESTMENT HORIZON

Get Current on Currencies. Why the money of other nations is becoming an asset class rather than a commodity

BY STEPHEN GARDEL

GROWTH IS SLOW, GOVERNMENT DEBT IS way up, interest rates in many developed countries—the U.S., England, Germany and Japan—are at historic lows. And, at least in the U.S., there is a growing patchwork that inflation will soon devour everyone. Put it all together and it just makes this a great time to invest in—currencies?

Investing in government lender used to be a high-wire act, the exclusive province of professionals executing leveraged arbitrages. But today it's more about betting on megatrends—for instance, the possibility of some developed country going belly up. Or it's new global leadership. That's why a growing number of investors, both big and small, are getting interested in the currency market. The market for trading dollars for, say, Japanese yen or Turkish lira has more than doubled in the past six years, to $4 trillion a day according to a study by the Bank of International Settlements.

Some of those investors have done very well. The value of the Australian dollar compared with the U.S. dollar is up 35% since the beginning of 2005. The Brazilian real is up 35% from a low in January. And even the yen, the currency of the beleaguered Japanese economy, has been hot lately—up 7% in the past six months, despite the government's efforts to buy it down. "Currencies are one way to make money at a time when the financial markets in general have been very lethargic," says Louis Stamatoloroch of Legend Financial Advisors.

Some stock markets, though are only part of the currency story. First of all, it's easier to trade currencies than it used to be, and there are more flavors to choose from. A number of governments have ditched the dollar peg and allowed their currency to float more freely, inviting foreign traders to participate in their markets. For individuals, opening a margin account and learning futures contracts—a potentially hairy and expensive proposition—is no longer necessary. There are 44 exchange-traded funds—up from just one in 2004—that track the value of various currencies versus the dollar. A number of mutual funds also invest in currencies. "More investors are looking at currencies as another asset class, like stocks and bonds," says Kunjal Jahnkat, who runs a hedge fund in Lake of the Hills, Ill., and has been trading currencies for more than two decades. "It's another way to diversify."

More investors are looking at currencies as another asset class, like stocks and bonds. It's another way to diversify your portfolio.

—KUNJAL JAHUKAR
HEDGE FUND MANAGER

But the bigger trend pushing currencies to this developed nation's lonk tapped out: commodity-rich nations are booming, China and India's middle classes are growing, Africa is blossoming. Currency markets give investors the ability to bet that the leadership of the global economy is shifting, and that's a bet more and more investors want to take.

Currencies are even looking less volatile than stocks. Some currencies like the Chinese yuan, which is up 20% in the past five years, have risen. But they haven't had the run experienced by stocks in China, which, despite their recent drop, have soared over 150% in the same time. "Most people still believe China's yuan is undervalued," says Jeff Feig, a head of foreign-exchange trading at Citigroup. But there are dangers in this emerging asset class. With all the new entrants, volatility has increased. And governments have been known to manipulate their currencies as Japan has recently begun to do to protect its exports.

Still a number of strategists say having a small portion of their assets in foreign currencies is a good idea if only for protection against a continuing fall in the value of the dollar. Morningstar analyst Michael Rawson suggests the PowerShares DB US Dollar Index Bearish ETF, which tracks a basket of developed foreign nations' currencies, including the yen, euro, Canadian dollar and Swiss franc. But more risk-averse investors might want to try the WisdomTree Dreyfus Emerging Currency Fund ETF to play on the shift in the global economy. "Currencies are not a productive asset, but for a small portion of a large portfolio, about 5%, it may make sense," says Rawson. ■

I propose to change the system so that when density card output is requested, plotted densities are punched out. In the nor mal case these would simply be the average densities. If the test code calls for E.N.D. conversion, it would be the E.N.D densities that are punched out. If the test breaks down, e g. because of range check failure, we would get cards punched out for individual strips, since individuals are plotted in that case.

I would appreciate your comments on this proposal by January 2, 1971

Efficiency Guide for Televisions

By Megan McKay-Nix

Which appliance uses more energy: a refrigerator or television? Consumers may not realize that some large entertainment TVs—when used on average of five hours per day—can cost more to operate than a new basic refrigerator.

According to the U.S. Energy Information Administration 44 percent of American homes have three or more television sets and each new set adds to a home's monthly energy bill.

In the market for a new television? You're not alone—U.S. consumers purchased an estimated 40 million new televisions with an average screen size of 50 inches last year.

To keep your electric bills in check from are some tips to consider before buying a new television.

Display Tactics

Three parts of a TV impact energy use, display technology, screen size and resolution. Plasma and liquid-crystal display (LCD) are the two most popular types of display technologies. Plasma screens often are cited as the largest energy user—mainly because their large 42-inch to 65- inch screens typically draw between 240 watts to 400 watts.

LCD TVs don't need much power to operate—111 watts on average. Most LCD screens range in size from 21 inches to 46 inches. These TVs fall into two categories: those with cold-cathode fluorescent lamps to illuminate the screen and backlit models employing a light-emitting diode (LED). LED units offer several benefits, notably better picture quality and thinner and lighter screens. They also use slightly less energy at 101 watts.

Most prospective buyers already have the ideal screen size in mind, remember that the larger the screen the more energy you'll drain. And although a high-definition TV (HDTV) transforms the latest blockbuster movie into a theater-like living room experience make sets generally use more power to generate better picture clarity.

ENERGY STAR Boosts Ratings

ENERGY STAR TVs cut an estimated $3 5 billion from consumer electric bills annually. The joint energy efficiency ratings program of the U.S. Department of Energy (DOE) and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) created the first set of voluntary television efficiency standards in 1998. Today's ENERGY STAR-qualified screens use on average 40 percent less energy than standard models, whether you're watching the latest hit show (active mode) or have the screen turned off (standby mode).

Standards are constantly ratcheting up. In 2008, a 50-inch ENERGY STAR-rated television used 315 watts on average. In 2010 make sets had to curb energy use to 153 watts or less, and by 2012 50-inch TVs could not drain more than 108 watts. ENERGY STAR provides an online guide so potential buyers can find qualified televisions ranked by energy use size brand, and display type at www.energystar.gov.

ENERGY STAR Partners like TopTen USA also maintain lists of the top energy efficient televisions (and other household appliances) based on size at www.toptenusa.org.

Look for Labels

The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) has recognized the need for education and easy comparisons for the amount of energy televisions consume. In 2011 a yellow Energy Guide label—a common sight on refrigerators dishwashers and other large appliances—became a requirement for TV

"TVs now vary widely in the amount of energy they use," comments FTC Chairman Jon Leibowitz. "By comparing information on the Energy Guide labels consumers will be able to make better-informed decisions about which model they choose to buy based on how much it costs to operate per year."

The label compares the annual operating cost of a specific television to the play-in sets of similar models. The label must be attached to the front of all televisions websites selling televisions must also provide an image of the label for prospective buyers.

Trouble using Vonage fax line to dial out with PC modem

I just installed my vonage service today and I'm already a big fan. I do have two issues that I what some help with

1.) My wife is a pharmaceutical rep and has a handheld PC (HP Jornada 720) with a V.90 modem that she uses to dial into her company server every night. I called Vonage support and the guy I spoke to told me to lower the baud rate of the modem to 9600 and I should be able to connect. I did that, but I still can't successfully connect. Any ideas?

2.) I have a Philips Series 1 TiVo. I've scoured the net and found all kinds of info about making daily calls with Vonage. I've tried all kinds of dialing prefixes, but nothing has worked. Does anyone have a Series 1 TiVo that has been out successfully via the TiVo internet modem?

I am attempting both of these calls (handheld modem and TiVo) via my ancient Vonage and (fax line). Any help/advice would be greatly appreciated.

I had a similar problem with my Dish network receiver. The phone connection diagnostics showed everything was alright but the modem continuously tried dialing out with no success. I my house I ordred for the separate fax and for $5.99 a month. When I connected the fax line to my receiver the dials went right through. The combination to Vonage

--Written by ebay seller Gofastsale All rights reserve

Step 1:

Restart the phone without insert the rebel sim If your phone shows Emergency call only, go to Step 2. If you are able to access notes, calendar, sms..etc, your phone is activated, go to Step 3

Step 2:

Careful! You will only need to do this once, and never again. Insert any AT&T sim card and connect to itunes, then your phone will show that it's activated. Or an alternative way to activate the phone is to jailbreak it. Then go to Step 3

Step 3:

Go to "Setting" "General", and 'Network" Turn off 3G, turn on Data Roaming. Insert the Rebel sim and your sim card together into the slot, slowly and carefully! Don't push if you feel there s something stuck inside Gently move left, right and adjusting a little bit, and then you will successfully insert both of them into the phone

Step 4

Your phone will automatically search for network. It's normal that it shows " no sim", " no network" at the beginning. They will only show up at the initial set up. And please be patient.

Step 5.

Dear Mr Fields

April 19 2013

Mr Fields when you paid your rent upon moving in you had a non refundable deposit of $175 00. We failed to tell you that it should have been on a separate money order made out to Sure Deposit. As of right now you have a credit to your account of $175 00, so with that being said you will need to have two separate money orders next month, one for $175.00 for sure deposit, and the other in the amount of $450 00 for your rent portion. We are sorry for any inconveniences. If you have any questions please call 317-541 1219

Housetraining Your Puppy

Housetraining a puppy requires time, vigilance, patience and commitment. By following the procedures outlined below, you can minimize housetraining incidents, but virtually every puppy will have an accident in the house (more likely several). This is part of it and a puppy one should be expected. The more consistent you are in following the basic housetraining procedures, the faster your puppy will learn acceptable behavior. It may take several weeks to housetrain your puppy and with some of the smaller breeds it might take longer. A puppy can usually be considered reliably housetrained when it has not had any accidents for two to three months.

Establish a Routine

- Your puppy will do best if he is taken outside on a consistent and frequent schedule. He should have the opportunity to eliminate after waking up from a nap, after playing and after eating.
- Choose a location not too far from the door to be the bathroom spot. Always take your puppy on a leash, directly to the bathroom spot, picking him up for a walk or playing with him directly after he has eliminated will help him to associate good things with elimination. If you clean up an accident in the house, take the soiled rags or paper towels and leave them in the bathroom spot. The smell will help your puppy recognize it is there as the place he is supposed to eliminate. While your puppy is eliminating, use a word or phrase like "go potty" that you can eventually use before he eliminates to remind him of what he is supposed to be doing.
- Praise your puppy lavishly every time he eliminates outdoors. You can even give him a treat. You must praise him or treat him immediately after he's finished eliminating, not after he comes back inside the house. It is also vital, because rewarding your dog for eliminating outdoors is the only way he'll know that this is an appropriate behavior.
- If possible, put your puppy on a regular feeding schedule. Depending on their age, puppies usually need to be fed three or four times a day. Feeding your puppy at the same times each day will make it more likely that he'll eliminate at consistent times as well. This makes housetraining easier for both of you.

Supervise, Supervise, Supervise

Don't give your puppy an opportunity to go in the house. He should be watched at all times when he is not in his crate. Tether him to you with a leash or use baby gates to keep him in your view. Watch for signs that he needs to eliminate, like sniffing around or circling. When you see these signs, immediately take him outside on a leash, to his bathroom spot. If he eliminates, praise him lavishly and reward him with a treat.

Confinement

When you're unable to watch your puppy closely, he should be confined to an area small enough that he won't want to eliminate there. It should be just big enough for him to comfortably stand, lie down and turn around. This area could be a portion of a bathroom, laundry room, blocked off with baby gates. Or you may want to crate train your puppy and use the crate to confine him (see our handout "Crate Training Your Dog"). If your puppy has spent several hours in confinement, make sure to take him directly to his bathroom spot before doing anything else.

Oops!

Expect your puppy to have an accident in the house. It is a normal part of housetraining.

- When you do catch him in the act of eliminating in the house, do something to interrupt him, like make a startling noise (be careful not to scare him). Immediately take him to his bathroom spot, praise him and give him a treat if he finishes eliminating there.

Prayer to St Joseph over 1900 years old

O St. Joseph whose protection is so great, so strong, so prompt before the Throne of God, I place in you all my interests and desires O St. Joseph do assist me by your powerful intercession and obtain for me from your Divine Son all spiritual blessings through Jesus Christ, Our Lord: so that having engaged here below your Heavenly power I may offer my Thanksgiving and Homage to the most Loving of Fathers. O St Joseph, I never weary contemplating you and Jesus asleep in your arms. I dare not approach while He reposes near your heart. Press him in my name and kiss His fine Head for me, and ask Him to return the Kiss when I draw my dying breath St. Joseph Patron of departing souls, pray for us. Amen

Say for nine consecutive mornings for anything you may desire. It has seldom been known to fail.

This prayer was found in the fiftieth year of Our Lord Jesus Christ In 1500's it was sent by the Pope to Emperor Charles when he was going into battle

Whoever reads this prayer or hears it or carries it, will never die a sudden death, nor be drowned, nor will poison take effect on them. They will not fall into the hands of the enemy nor be burned in any fire, nor will they be defeated in battle.

Make this prayer known everywhere

Imprimatur

TFTP

Trivial File Transfer Protocol, is a very simple file transfer protocol, with the functionality of a very basic form of FTP. It uses UDP (port 69) as its transport protocol.

UDP

User Datagram Protocol (UDP) is one of the core protocols of the Internet protocol suite. Using UDP, programs on networked computers can send short messages known as datagrams to one another. UDP does not provide the reliability and ordering guarantees that TCP does, datagrams may arrive out of order or go missing without notice. However, as a result, UDP is faster and more efficient for many lightweight or time-sensitive purposes.

VAD

Voice Activity Detection or Voice Activity Detector is an algorithm used in speech processing wherein, the presence or absence of human speech is detected from the audio samples.

VLAN

A virtual LAN, known as a VLAN, is a logically independent network. Several VLANs can co-exist on a single physical switch. It is usually refer to the IEEE 802.1Q tagging protocol.

VoIP

Voice over IP

VoIP encompasses many protocols. All the protocols do some form of signaling of call capabilities and transport of voice data from one point to another. e.g: SIP, H.323, etc

NRA Instructor Training Program Pre-Course Questionnaire

Thank you for your interest in the NRA Instructor Training Program. The goal of this program is to develop instructors to teach NRA Basic Firearm Training Courses according to the lesson plans and training standards of the National Rifle Association. This program is not designed to prepare you to teach other firearm training courses (such as law enforcement, security, or hunter safety courses), nor to prepare you to develop firearm training courses of your own. The NRA Instructor Training Course is designed to teach you how to teach others to shoot using NRA lesson plans and training methods. The course is not designed to improve your shooting skills. Possession of basic firearm safety and/or shooting skills is a prerequisite for certification as an NRA instructor. You may be asked to demonstrate your firearm background through participation in pre-course assessment exercises.

A complete NRA Instructor Training Course consists of two parts. The first is basic instructor training (BIT) which consists of 8 hours of instruction. The second part is discipline-specific instructor training, which consists of an additional 5 to 24 hours of instruction per discipline. For example, and NRA Instructor Course in rifle, pistol, and shotgun lasts at least 40 hours.

During the NRA Instructor Training Course, you will receive from your Training Counselor the NRA Trainer's Guide, the appropriate NRA Instructor Candidate Packet which includes the course outlines and lesson plans for the disciplines you wish to teach, the appropriate NRA basic course student packet which includes the handbook, certificate, NRA Gun Safety Rules brochure and other materials used in NRA basic courses.

The NRA Training Counselor who conducts your course will make a recommendation to the NRA concerning your certification based on an evaluation of your knowledge, skills and attitude. You will be asked to demonstrate your organizational and teaching skills through participation in several practical exercises during the course of your training. You will also be asked to complete an instructor certification examination. A minimum score of 90 percent is required for certified instructor applicants (85 percent for assistant and apprentice instructor applicants). However, attendance at the course, or a passing grade on the examination, does not guarantee that you will receive the recommendation of the NRA Training Counselor.

Instructor certification is valid for one year upon your initial certification. After completion of the first year, instructors may renew their instructor credentials for up to three years at a time. NRA encourages instructors to remain active and would like to see at least one basic course taught per year.

Adobe Acrobat PDF Files

Adobe® Portable Document Format (PDF) is a universal file format that preserves all of the fonts, formatting, colours and graphics of any source document, regardless of the application and platform used to create it.

Adobe PDF is an ideal format for electronic document distribution as it overcomes the problems commonly encountered with electronic file sharing.

How Can I Test My Fax Machine?

I just hooked up a new fax machine and I'd like to test it, just to make sure it works. How can I do that?

Presumably, you want to test your fax machine to be sure it can send or receive a fax. From it and receiving a fax with it. Here's how to do both.

To test the send functionality of your fax machine, send a one-page fax to 1-855-330-1239 (a toll-free number in the United States.) When it's finished transmitting, point your web browser to fax.fax — it's a fun web site that displays whatever is faxed to that number. Wait in a minute, your fax should appear on the site. Click the thumbnail to see a large version.

To test the receive functionality of your fax machine, point your web browser to FaxZero. This site lets you send faxes for free to anywhere in the United States and Canada. Within a few minutes, your fax machine should ring — hopefully, it will automatically answer and spit out the test fax.

ASSEMBLY AND SET-UP

Inflating the Tires

Be sure to read the owner's guide for the bicycle you purchased. Make sure you follow the manufacturer's guidelines for tire inflation.

Front Tire

1 Using a hand pump, inflate the tire to the recommended pressure. Make sure the valve is centered in the hole in the rim.

Rear Tire

1 Remove valve cap and adjust the valve if necessary.

2 Tighten the valve nut with the supplied wrench. Then screw the valve cap back on. Repeat the procedure for the other tire.

WARNING!

Do not inflate the tires to pressures greater than the maximum recommended by the manufacturer. Doing so may cause the tire to explode, which could result in serious injury. Inflating the tires to pressures lower than the minimum recommended may damage your bicycle and void your warranty.

Note: The pressure in your tires should be checked regularly. Tires naturally lose pressure over time. Riding on underinflated tires will cause excessive wear and may damage the tire. Also, tires are more susceptible to punctures when underinflated. Refer to the sidewall of the tire for the recommended pressure and inflate the tires to the proper pressure before each ride.

Testing the Brake

Before the first ride, squeeze the brake lever to test the brakes. The brakes should engage smoothly and completely when the brake lever is fully squeezed. Make sure that when releasing the brake lever, the brakes disengage and the wheel rotates freely. If the brakes do not engage properly, adjust them as described in the "Adjusting the Brake" section of this manual.

REPAIR AND MAINTENANCE

Check the following items for any defects or the need for repair or adjustment. Take your bicycle to a bicycle dealer if you are not sure how to perform the repair or adjustment yourself. Improper repair or adjustment may cause the bicycle to malfunction, which could result in serious injury. Refer to the owner's guide for the bicycle you purchased for more information.

❑ Adjusting the Brake

1 Loosen the jam nut and adjust the brake cable tension by turning the adjuster barrel. Make sure the brake pads are centered on the rim and that they do not touch the tire. Tighten the jam nut.

2 If the brake pads require adjustment, loosen the nut and adjust the brake pad position. Make sure the brake pads are centered on the rim and that they do not touch the tire. Tighten the nut.

WARNING!

Improper brake adjustment can cause the brake pads to contact the tire, which could damage the tire and cause the bicycle to suddenly stop or the rider to be thrown from the bicycle.

6 Choose the correct Receive Mode

The correct Receive Mode is determined by the external devices and telephone subscriber services (Voice Mail, Distinctive Ring, etc.) you have (or will be using) on the same line as the Brother machine.

Will you be using a Distinctive Ring number for receiving faxes?
Brother uses the term "Distinctive Ring" but telephone companies may have other names for this service such as Custom Ringing, RingMaster, Personalised Ring, Teen Ring, IdentA-Call and Smart Ring. See Distinctive Ring in the Basic User's Guide for instruction on setting up your machine using this feature.

Will you be using Voice Mail on the same telephone line as your Brother machine?
If you have Voice Mail on the same telephone line as your Brother machine, there is a strong possibility that Voice Mail and the Brother machine will conflict with each other when receiving incoming calls. See Voice Mail in the Basic User's Guide for last actions on setting up your machine using this service.

Will you be using a Telephone Answering Device on the same telephone line as your Brother machine?
Your external telephone answering device (TAD) will automatically answer every call. Voice messages are stored on the external TAD and fax messages are printed. Choose `External TAD` as your receive mode. See the instructions below.

Will you be using your Brother machine on a dedicated fax line?
Your machine automatically answers every call as a fax. Choose `Fax Only` as your receive mode. See the instructions below.

Will you be using your Brother machine on the same line as your telephone?

Do you want to receive voice calls and faxes automatically?
The `Fax/Tel` receive mode is used when sharing the Brother machine and your telephone on the same line. Choose `Fax/Tel` as your receive mode. See the instructions below.
Important Note: You cannot receive voice messages on either Voice Mail or an answering machine when choosing the `Fax/Tel` mode.

Do you expect to receive very few faxes?
Choose `Manual` as your receive mode. You control the telephone line and must answer every call yourself. See the instructions below.

For details, see Using receive modes in the Basic User's Guide.

a Press Menu 0 1.

b Press ▲ or ▼ to choose the receive mode.
Press OK.

c Press Stop/Exit.

Stealing Peaches

A 50-year-old woman was arrested for shoplifting. When she went before the judge, he asked her: "What did you steal?"

"A can of peaches," she replied.

The judge then asked her why she had stolen the can of peaches.

"I was hungry," she replied.

The judge then asked her how many peaches were in the can?

"Six," she said.

"I will give you six days in jail," the judge said but, before he could actually make the sentence official, the woman's husband spoke up and asked the judge if he could say something.

"What is it?" the judge asked.

"She also stole a can of peas."

Cypher Incident

Cypher Winery — Winter 2015

Taming the Beast

The Louis Cypher project is one of my most challenging and original ideas to date. It is the most unique and eclectic wine out there, period. The original idea was to collect the biggest, meanest, most tannic monster grapes I could find and make something sexy out of them. There is nothing like it.

> How the final blend comes together to make a suitable dinner guest out of the devil himself without altering his true dark nature- This is the exercise I now call Practical Demon Keeping

As a winemaker it has been a journey of trials and tribulation to find out what works to make this beast sing. The blend started with eleven varietals and over time has been paired down to the seven or eight I am presently working with.

The evolution of what fermentation techniques work to bring out the character of these exotic varietals; what wood and toast levels aid in the taming of this demon, how the final blend comes together to make a suitable dinner guest without altering his true dark nature.

The blend has evolved to center around the Portuguese monster Touriga Nacional. There is nothing that tastes or smells like Touriga. It is so unique, so different and the perfect platform to build on. The other varietals each bring their own flavor profiles layering the multiple moods and faces of the blend. The addition of Cabernet Sauvignon has really added another dimension to the already complex symphony of flavors.

The biggest break through came in 2013 when we had a very early harvest and it seemed everything was getting ripe at the same time. What the winery usually processed in 3 months we did in 45 days. The unique circumstances of the year enable me to take things that were always blended together but usually fermented separately and co-ferment them.

During co-fermentation, compounds, acids and tannins in the skins of the different varietals bond together in ways that just blending the final wines will never achieve. Longer tannin chains develop with deeper more complex flavors that make for a denser overall structure laced with an increased silken texture.

The final evolution that has helped me realize my vision for Louis Cypher has

Ned leaves for a hunt with Robert and his retinue, waving goodbye to his son, Bran. The young Stark spends the afternoon climbing the rocky walls of Winterfell, one of his favorite hobbies. At the pinnacle of an abandoned tower, he hears strange noises, and when he looks inside a window, he sees Jaime Lannister and his twin sister, Queen Cersei, having sex on the floor. Cersei notices Bran and screams. Jaime steps to the window frame and grabs the boy, holding him firmly. He looks to his sister and then to the ground before sending Bran plummeting to the rocky ground below.

- ✓ But that a few investors wearing blue jeans and t-shirts at a small office in Virginia plotted their own plans for surviving — and thriving — in the teeth of this gathering storm. Led by portfolio adviser Jeff Fischer
- ✓ That, this very same morning, they were launching a new, fangled online portfolio recommendation service. With step-by-step allocation guidance plus a few simple but powerful options strategies
- ✓ That they were creating an audacious "North Star" benchmark for this service that aimed to make money (and even BEAT the stock market's average return) over the long term, while avoiding losses over the short term
- ✓ And that they were backing it with their company's own real money at a time that it was pinching every penny.

You'd have called me a Foo

Look, I scarcely believed the story myself, when Tom and Jim shared it with me over beers on Victoria Day

And I haven't even told you the most amazing part yet

Every $50k of Foolish cash invested into the Pro portfolio that morning is now worth $123,495 today

[illegible]

Now, as Jim mentioned to you the other day, Canada is rather different from the U.S. (Our investment advisors are more handsome.)

And 2015 is a VASTLY different investing landscape from 2008.

Because like Twain said, history doesn't repeat

Although you might call them rhyming circumstances.

Moreover, the tools that Motley Fool Pro (U.S.) used to generate that incredible market-crushing, risk-smoothing return are not the same as those that Motley Fool Pro Canada will employ

Nor should they be! We'll have our own goals and methods, based on the needs of our small group of members.

$60k into $65,330 in first 13 months.

But if you're looking for another example of this type of "rhyme" — one that may sound even more like music to your ears even though it's coming from halfway across the world

Look no further than Australia.

Where lightning struck again. When our lead portfolio adviser Joe Magyer launched Motley Fool Pro Australia.

A service that has surpassed its own lofty goals, by more than DOUBLING the market return. And churning out $15,330 in PURE PROFIT for every $50k invested

In its first 13 months!

Let's see what we can do in our own backyard...

Well, I happen to think we Canadians can rhyme that tune as well. Which is why I'm putting my own money on the table

Keep calm and learn on!!

Customer Quick Fixes

TV has no picture or remote is not responding:

- Make sure that the TV is on the right input for the cable box to display a picture (i.e. Channel 3 or 4, video 1, component, HDMI etc.) YOUR DEFAULT CHANNEL IS: [ ]
- If your VCR is on, try turning it off. This can disrupt the feed from the box to the TV
- Verify that there is nothing obstructing the path of the remote to the cable box.
- Make sure that there are fresh batteries in the remote and that they are inserted correctly.
- Make sure you press the "cable" button on the remote if trying to change channels.
- If none of the above work, you may need to reprogram your remote. Go to www.xfinity.com and enter "Program my remote" in the search window

If you are unable to access the Internet:

- Verify all lights on the modem, including the "online" and "power" lights are on
  If not, press the Standby button on the front or top of your modem.
  Press the Standby button again to restore power
- If a "Welcome To Comcast" page is showing, walk through the "I Am a Customer" setup option
- If you have recently connected a device (gaming console, laptop, etc.), power cycle the modem each time by unplugging the modem's power cord and then plugging it back in.
- If you are using a router (personal or from Comcast) unplug the power cord to both the modem and the router and turn off the computer. Plug in the modem. After 30 seconds, plug in the router and then turn on the computer. (This is the correct series of powering up all devices to make them work together correctly.)

  Another Option: Disconnect your router and plug in your computer directly to the modem. If that works, your router may be the issue. (Note: Consult the router's owner's manual as Comcast does not support non-Comcast equipment.)
- Try temporarily disabling any spy-ware, firewall or anti-virus programs that are running. Then reset the modem. (Sometimes, these programs may block you from connecting to the internet.)
  Make sure you re-enable the programs afterwards!
- If using a work issued laptop, contact your IT administrator to update / verify settings

Your phone has no dial-tone when you pick it up:

- Verify the lights on the phone EMTA are on. (When the phone is on hook the "tel 1" light should be solid. When you pick up the phone "tel 1" light should be blinking.) If no lights are present, confirm that the modem is plugged in. (Try using a pen/pencil to push the "reset" button on the back of the modem to reset the line.)
- Make sure the phone cord on the back of the phone EMTA is plugged into the "tel 1/2" port and not the "tel 2" port. (the "tel 2" port is for a 2nd phone number only.)
- Try plugging your phone directly into the "tel 1/2" port on the back of the phone modem

Prayer to St. Joseph over 1900 years old

O St. Joseph whose protection is so great, so strong, so prompt before the Throne of God, I place in you all my interests and desires. O St. Joseph do assist me by your powerful intercession and obtain for me from your Divine Son all spiritual blessings through Jesus Christ, Our Lord; so that having engaged here below your Heavenly power I may offer my Thanksgiving and Homage to the most Loving of Fathers. O St. Joseph, I never weary contemplating you and Jesus asleep in your arms. I dare not approach while He reposes near your heart. Press him in my name and kiss His fine Head for me, and ask Him to return the Kiss when I draw my dying breath. St. Joseph, Patron of departing souls, pray for us. Amen

Say for nine consecutive mornings for anything you may desire. It has seldom been known to fail.

This prayer was found in the fiftieth year of Our Lord Jesus Christ. In 1500's it was sent by the Pope to Emperor Charles when he was going into battle.

Whoever reads this prayer or hears it or carries it, will never die a sudden death, nor be drowned, nor will poison take effect on them. They will not fall into the hands of the enemy nor be burned in any fire, nor will they be defeated in battle.

Make this prayer known everywhere.

Bishop of Trenton

A Will Only Helps When You're Dead

Here's How to Protect Your Assets While You're Alive

Most people spend lots of time carefully crafting their wills and other documents to be sure they'll be distributed properly when they die.

But they often pay too little attention to assets that will, to a degree, die with them—assets that could be vitally important while they're still alive.

And then a terrible thing happens—illness—they become incapacitated, cannot act, and their assets are in trouble.

Fortunately, the document—a financial power of attorney—can help avoid such disasters. Here's how it works and how to make sure it will do what you want when you're incapacitated.

If well-written, it can help you and your heirs in which some of the most difficult decisions you'll ever make. Those decisions are at the health-care power of attorney, which dictates who will make health care decisions for you.

Without a financial power of attorney, anyone needing to act on your behalf—perhaps to pay your bills—must petition a court to appoint a guardian to do so. Not only is this costly, but the guardian can be lengthy and expensive, possibly costing tens of thousands of dollars, and the courts might not appoint one you do not want.

Generally, I would appointed guardian receives some compensation for his or her work. And, that may be considered a part of the public record, which means that personal details about your health or financial affairs could become widely known.

Assets at Risk. People who die have financial powers of attorney need control in the that the asset them are poorly written—or they do not adequately provide the intended safeguards.

Here's how to make sure the financial power of attorney that you create or that you are asked to are created avoids major problems.

Problem: Your power of attorney does not take effect until it is needed. In many states, you have the option to create a springing power of attorney that goes into effect only if and when you become incapacitated. The concept has a great appeal—why give up control over your finances sooner than is absolutely necessary?

Double-check before you choose a springing power of attorney. It can lead to all sorts of headaches for your financial agent—the person you designate as your attorney-in-fact. The banks are at fault. >>

I have got 3 seconds which is plenty fast for me if I go above I get the same 4 or higher seconds reliability which one works the best.
I havent increased the pipelining above the default,so just set it to true and please be sure to ignore that TRIM command above,its not usefull.
Mozilla 27. Linux mint 16 Mate (64bit)

very usefull, it does work, I have an older computer(intel pentium dual cpu at 2.0 GH, with 993 on RAM) and firefox was taking forever to open pages and new tabs, with this tweak now is running way faster than before. thanks a lot :)

Reply

Hey thanks man. it worked

Reply

Good tips, thanks.
For info, I'm running Vivaldi 14 and the pipelining maxrequests parameter is defaulted to 32. I left it the same. I also didn't set content.notify.interval or config trim on, minimise before read through some of the posts below. I set everything else as per the tutorial, and IT is definitely faster. thanks :)

Reply

Seems faster with the tweaks, thanks for the post!

Reply

Thank you soo much for this info!!!!

@DCrashdummy:
Thanks for the tips

Nice... some well known settings for more experts.
BUT...
1) "config.trim_on_minimize" will only have an effect on windows-systems! - and it also can slow down your whole system if it's swapping all the time!
2) the "network.http.pipelining.maxrequests" is will be enough more is not necessary!
3) value below 100000 (320000 is the default) for "content.notify.interval" can also increase the page-loading time and slow down whole system!
4) maybe you can also tweak "network.http.max-connections", "network.http.max-connections-per-server", "network.http.max-persistent-connections-per-server" and "network.http.max-persistent-connections-per-proxy"? - I don't post values for these settings because everyone knows it better and has its own "right" settings!

Faxing with Ooma

With the proper equipment, it is possible to send and receive faxes. There are several configuration options, allowing you to select the setup that will be best for you. Before you begin, please keep in mind that you will need to have access to a working fax machine, and possibly a phone splitter in order to use this feature. Once you have all of the necessary tools, check out the guides below for your desired configuration:

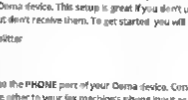
1. Using your phone and fax machine on the same line
2. Using your fax machine on a dedicated line
3. How to send a fax
4. How to receive a fax
   1. If you've set up your fax machine on a dedicated line
   2. If you have your phone and fax machine set up on the same line
5. I followed the directions but my faxes still aren't working, what can I do?
6. Background information: Voice over IP (VoIP) and Fax Machines

Using your phone and fax machine on the same line

To use your home phone and fax machine on the same line, you'll connect both devices to the PHONE port on the back of your Ooma device. This setup is great if you don't use your fax machine often, or if you usually send faxes, but don't receive them. To get started, you will need the following equipment:

- A standard phone splitter
- Your fax machine
- Two phone cords

Plug the phone splitter into the PHONE port of your Ooma device. Connect one of your phone cords to your telephone, and the other to your fax machine's phone input as shown in the image below:



If you don't want your calls to be picked up by the fax machine, you should turn the auto-answer mode on your fax machine off by putting it in "manual" mode. If you prefer to leave auto-answer on you may want to set your machine up to have a long delay before pick up in order for you to answer your voice calls. You should refer to your fax machine's user manual for more information on how to do this.

Using your fax machine on a dedicated line

Faxing in Windows XP

Published October 21 2002
By Sheem Crawford, Windows XP Expert Zone Community Columnist

Editor's Note: Past articles by members of the online community are archived for your use. The information may become outdated as technology changes. For the most current information, please search the Web site or post a question in the newsgroups.

If you're running Windows XP, you can finally donate used old fax machine to a local charity and use the desk space for something more valuable—like a box of doughnuts. An easy to use fax service is built into Windows XP so you can send and receive faxes from your computer.

There are a number of advantages to moving to a Windows XP-based fax system, the main one being no wasted paper. No need to print documents before faxing them. You can read, save, delete, or attach incoming faxes to e-mail—all without using a single piece of paper. Of course, you can print them too.

Although you don't need a fax machine, you'll need a phone line, a modem, and a scanner to send and receive faxes from your computer. Fax faxing, the modem and scanner don't have to be anything special. Even a 33.6 bps modem will dispatch a multi-page letter in a minute or two. As to the scanner, faxes are sent in black and white and usually in a default resolution of no better than 150 X 150 dpi. Any working scanner can manage that.

Setting Up and Configuring Windows XP Fax

The fax service isn't automatically installed in Windows XP. To install the fax component:

1. Open Control Panel, and click Add or Remove Programs.
2. Click Add/Remove Windows Components. Select the Fax Services check box and then click Next. The Windows Components Wizard takes care of the rest.

Note If you don't have a modem already installed, take care of one now. Make sure the modem is connected to a phone line and the phone line is connected to a working jack. (You'd be surprised how often folks overlook these details.)

After the fax component is installed, the next step is configuring it. You configure the Fax service in the Fax Console, the center for faxing tasks. To configure the Fax Console:

1. Click Start, point to All Programs, point to Accessories, point to Communications, point to Fax, and then click Fax Console.

Q. What should I know about an FHA refinance?

A. FHA refinance loans are available for rate and term refinancing or cash-out refinancing. In addition, you may refinance a conventional loan to an FHA loan. For qualifying homeowners, FHA loans generally have several advantages, including:

- Equity requirement is 2.25% (rate and term refinance only)
- *May qualify for a loan two years after the date of discharge on a bankruptcy (Chapter 7)
- *May qualify for a loan three years after the date of a foreclosure

[illegible]

Q. What eligibility requirements are there?

A. To be eligible for an FHA refinance with Discover Home Loans:

- Loan must be secured by a one- or two-unit property occupied as your primary residence
- Your monthly housing costs (mortgage principal and interest, property taxes and insurance) should generally not exceed 31% of your gross monthly income
- Your monthly housing costs plus all additional monthly debt should generally not exceed 43% of your gross monthly income
- Your loan amount must not exceed your county limits as determined by the FHA. Contact one of our Dedicated Mortgage Bankers to determine what county loan limits are applicable to your specific situation
- You do not need to be a U.S. citizen, though additional requirements apply to non-citizens
- If applicable, you have been discharged from a Chapter 7 bankruptcy for two years or more or, if you are in a Chapter 13 bankruptcy, you have made all court-approved payments on time and as agreed for at least one year. Additional requirements apply. Contact one of our Dedicated Mortgage Bankers about your specific situation

Q. When is refinancing a good idea?

A. If you can reduce your current interest rate, you'll cut your monthly payments and may reduce the amount of interest you pay over the life of your loan depending on the term of your new loan. Moving from a 30-year term to a shorter-term mortgage can help you pay off your loan sooner, while switching from an adjustable-rate to a fixed-rate mortgage will stabilize your payments. Or, if you need money to pay down high-interest bills or make major purchases, a cash-out refinance can help you do that.

Please call one of our Dedicated Mortgage Bankers at 1-800-270-3971 with questions or for more information.

State of the Union Address
December 6, 1830

It gives me pleasure to announce to Congress that the benevolent policy of the Government steadily pursued for nearly thirty years, in relation to the removal of the Indians beyond the white settlements is approaching a happy consummation.

Humanity has often wept over the fate of the aborigines of this country, and Philanthropy has been long busily employed in devising means to avert it, but its progress has never for a moment been arrested, and one by one have many powerful tribes disappeared from the earth. To follow to the tomb the last of his race and to tread on the graves of extinct nations excite melancholy reflections. But true philanthropy reconciles the mind to these vicissitudes as it does to the extinction of one generation to make room for another. In the monuments and fortresses of an unknown people, spread over the extensive regions of the West, we behold the memorials of a once powerful race which was exterminated or has disappeared to make room for the existing savage tribes. Nor is there anything in this which, upon a comprehensive view of the general interests of the human race, is to be regretted. Philanthropy could not wish to see the continent restored in the condition in which it was found by our forefathers. What good man would prefer a country covered with forests and ranged by a few thousand savages to our extensive Republic, filled with states, towns and prosperous farms, embellished with all the improvements which art can devise or industry execute, occupied by more than 12,000 000 happy people, and filled with all the blessings of liberty, civilization and religion?

The present policy of the Government is but a continuation of the same progressive change by a milder process. The tribes which occupied the countries now constituting the Eastern States were annihilated or have melted away to make room for the whites. The waves of population and civilization are now rolling to the westward, and we now propose to acquire the countries occupied by the red man of the South and West by a fair exchange, and at the expense of the United States to send them to a land where their existence may be prolonged and perhaps made perpetual. Doubtless it will be painful to leave the graves of their fathers; but what do they more than our ancestors did or than our children are now doing? To better their condition in an unknown land our forefathers left all that was dear in earthly objects. Our children by thousands yearly leave the land of their birth to seek new homes in distant regions. Does Humanity weep at these partings from everything, animate and inanimate, with which the young heart has become entwined? Far from it. It is rather a source of joy that our country affords scope where our young population may range unconstrained in body or in mind, developing the power and faculties of man in their highest perfection. These separations have been wisely ordained in order that we might be induced to emigrate and occupy the more remote and unfilled portions of our extensive country. Pursuing this course the Indians are but following in the footsteps of their predecessors and our own brethren who have gone before us. In this way the whole country from the Alleghanies to the Mississippi and beyond it will soon be settled by a civilized population. To follow in the train of these events is to tread in the path of nature and to pursue the course of Providence. No one can doubt that both the individuals composing these communities and the countries occupied by them will be greatly benefited by their removal. Their new homes will be in a more genial climate, and the game on which they will chiefly depend for food more abundant. Discontented with the change, multitudes have already removed beyond the Mississippi, others are preparing to go, and nothing seems to be wanting to induce the remainder to follow but the guarantee promised to the first adventurers that they shall be allowed to enjoy undisturbed the fruits of their labor. That this guarantee will be faithfully executed and that ample time will be allowed for the removal of all who may be unwilling to submit to the laws of the States and mingle with their population, I entertain no doubt. Any attempt to oppose or resist this plan of the Government, which proceeds with the utmost regard to justice and humanity toward the Indians, will be firmly met and overcome; but it is believed that all opposition will be withdrawn by the time specified.

In the consummation of a policy originating at so early a period and steadily pursued by successive administrations, many difficulties have been encountered and overcome, and many sacrifices made, which could not fail to try the firmness of the Government; but it is believed that there never has been a time when more unbounded confidence was reposed in the policy or the motives of the Government by the people of the States, and never a time when they were more ready to sustain it at every hazard and by every sacrifice. This has been manifested by the promptness with which they have responded to every requisition for men and money to remove obstructions from the channels of our navigable streams, and by the corresponding promptness with which those requisitions have been complied with. Amid all the perplexities and embarrassments of the late war with Great Britain, arising from the capture of our towns and the destruction of our commerce, this policy was never for a moment abandoned or lost sight of. Even in the midst of that war, when our Capital was in the possession of the enemy, the wisdom of the measure was fully illustrated by the success which attended the efforts of the Creek Indians to destroy the whole white population of the country now constituting the State of Alabama. Thus was their territory relinquished to the victors by the conquered, and thus was the way opened for the establishment of a new State, which now assumes her stand in the Union as a sovereign member of the Confederacy. Had the victory been with the Indians, they would have seized the whole country and added it to their own possessions. Their success would have been followed by that of the British, who would have formed a permanent establishment on the Mississippi, and instead of a new State in the Union we should have had a new colony of Great Britain, planted by her savage allies, on our western frontier. Experience has proved that treaties cannot be executed with Indians living within the limits of States, and that they must necessarily be supported by the military power of the Government or be violated with impunity by the citizens. Independently of the treaty stipulations, therefore, the duty of the Government to remove the Indians from within the limits of the States is imperative.

It is due to the Indians that they should be distinctly informed that if they remain within the limits of the States they must be subject to the laws of the States, and that their relation to the General Government will be entirely changed. Their true interest requires that they should be induced to emigrate. They cannot but perish if they remain. Their game will soon be destroyed, and they will be exposed to the fatal influence of the vices of civilized life, to which they have shown themselves unequal. Their present condition is the result of causes which they cannot control. The same causes will continue to operate while they remain in their present situation. Independently of the claims of humanity, therefore, the true interest of the Indians requires that they should remove. Their present state is one of wretchedness and degradation, and it is apparent that their only hope of amelioration rests upon their removal. Shall they be permitted to remain in their present state, or shall they be induced to remove? This question has been decided by themselves. Many tribes have already removed, and others are preparing to go. Humanity has often wept over the fate of the aborigines of this country, and Philanthropy has been long busily employed in devising means to avert it, but its progress has never for a moment been arrested, and one by one have many powerful tribes disappeared from the earth. To follow to the tomb the last of his race and to tread on the graves of extinct nations excite melancholy reflections. Phone 630.238.5644 Fax 630.773.3771

Thank you for allowing JCR to handle your restoration needs. This briefing summary covers some very important issues related to the drying process of your loss. A JCR technician will answer any questions you may have

AIR MOVERS / DEHUMIDIFIERS / SPECIALTY DRYING EQUIPMENT

- The equipment used in the drying process is designed to lower the humidity level to normal conditions. Once the source of water has been identified and repaired. It is imperative to dry down the structure in a controlled efficient manner to avoid secondary damages such as delamination of building materials microbial growth, etc.
- Air movers are designed to cause evaporation. Dehumidifiers are designed to pull that excess moisture out of the air. Specialty drying equipment is designed to remove moisture from "inaccessible areas" by causing the least amount of demolition in order to save claim dollars to the insurance company and/or property owner. It is extremely important to keep the equipment running at all times.
- In Category 1 and 2 water losses within 48 hours it is possible to dry carpet and padding without removal using a process call as "Extreme Extraction" and "Vertex Drying". These ideal situations will dry without materials growth and contamination of carpets and padding. (Painting with a vapor barrier cannot be done in this manner).
- Never allow loose materials such as draperies, papers, etc. to block intake of drying equipment. This may cause overheating.
- If equipment is shut down, please allow 3 minutes before restarting.
- Never mist or spray liquids into air intake of equipment. Doing so may result in a shock hazard.
- Children should not be allowed to play with or near the equipment
- Equipment has been set by JCR technicians for maximum drying. Please do not turn off or move any equipment. A JCR technician will monitor the equipment every 24 hours. Please call 800.855.5644 for special instructions if you have any need to turn off or move any equipment – 24 hours a day

STRUCTURAL DRYING PROCEDURES

- Procedures such as removal of baseboard, shoe base, trim, drilling of holes at the bottom of walls; removal of saturated drywall, ceiling tiles, painting, wet insulation, perforation of wallpapers and glass finishes on walls and floors, are normal in drying out a structure in the most efficient manner. These methods will be more cost-effective and successful for the insurance company and property owners
- Anti-microbial agents are recommended in Category 2 and 3 water losses.
- Before drying begins, pre-existing, suspected mold on structure materials will be pointed out to the property owner. JCR will systematically cover the suspected mold with 6mil plastic, install a HEPA air machine, and contain the drying process. If the contaminated area is large, JCR will cease the drying process until further notice.
- Blue dots have been placed in areas affected by water damage in order to document the drying process. As the moisture trapped within these materials is removed the blue dots will be removed. You can observe the drying process using these dots
- Temporary plastic walls may be erected around the water-damaged area to create a containized drying chamber
- JCR is committed to dry the structure using the most cost-effective non-destructive methods. The Property owner and/or Insurance Adjuster will be notified throughout the drying process if additional drying equipment, power sources, and personnel will be required during the loss mitigation.

GENERAL SAFETY CONSIDERATIONS:

- Please try to keep out of affected areas as much as possible. Carpet tack strips and metal edges are sharp and can cause serious personal injury. If it is necessary to be in the area, walk through the center of the room paying close attention to the power cords
- Keep all exterior doors and windows closed during the drying process. Allowing outside air to enter the affected area may hamper the process. A JCR technician will set the thermostat for optimum drying conditions (70°-90°F).
- Expect odors during the first 24 hours of drying. This harmless "off-gassing" will disappear by the 2nd day
- Do not clean any interior doors intentionally left open by our technicians.

JCR is capable of handling all approved repairs and restoration procedures from start to finish. Once the property is 100% dry, an itemized estimate will be provided to you and/or your insurance company for approval. JCR is an insured, bonded, and licensed contractor who has served the Chicagoland since 1982.

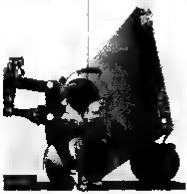
Can You Double Your Planter Speed?

JANUARY 2 2014
By Ben Potter, Farm Journal Technology Editor



Ultimately, Stoller hopes farmers look beyond the convenience of time saved and look at faster planting potential as an avenue to higher profits.

"The optimal planting window is very short, and it's so critical," he says. "We really hope that growers will see the potential in switching out one component on their planter to double their speed.

Environmental impact

Bleach is highly toxic to fish and invertebrates. In confined spaces, fish will attempt to swim away from the source. Ill considered use may create resistant micro-organisms,[2] both at the site of application and at the disposal site, leading to aggravated health problems.

Chemical interactions

Hypochlorite and chlorine are in equilibrium in water; the position of the equilibrium is pH dependent and low pH (acidic) favors chlorine.[3]

$$Cl_2 + H_2O \rightleftharpoons H^+ + Cl^- + HClO$$

Chlorine is a respiratory irritant that attacks mucous membranes and burns the skin. As little as 3.53 ppm can be detected as an odor, and 1000 ppm is likely to be fatal after a few deep breaths. Exposure to chlorine has been limited to 0.5 ppm (8-hour time-weighted average—38 hour week) by OSHA in the U.S.[4]

Sodium hypochlorite and ammonia react to form a number of products, depending on the temperature, concentration, and how they are mixed.[5] The main reaction is chlorination of ammonia, first giving chloramine (NH_2Cl), then dichloramine ($NHCl_2$) and finally nitrogen trichloride (NCl_3). These materials are very irritating to the eyes and lungs and are toxic above certain concentrations.

$$NH_3 + NaOCl \rightarrow NaOH + NH_2Cl$$

$$NH_2Cl + NaOCl \rightarrow NaOH + NHCl_2$$

$$NHCl_2 + NaOCl \rightarrow NaOH + NCl_3$$

Additional reactions produce hydrazine, in a variation of the Olin Raschig process.

$$NH_3 + NH_2Cl + NaOH \rightarrow N_2H_4 + NaCl + H_2O$$

The hydrazine generated can further react with the monochloramine in an exothermic reaction.[3]

$$2\ NH_2Cl + N_2H_4 \rightarrow 2\ NH_4Cl + N_2$$

Industrial bleaching agents can also be sources of concern. For example, the use of elemental chlorine in the bleaching of wood pulp produces organochlorines and persistent organic pollutants, including dioxins. According to an industry group, the use of chlorine dioxide in these processes has reduced the dioxin generation to under detectable levels.[6] However, respiratory risk from chlorine and highly toxic chlorinated byproducts still exists.

A recent European study indicated that sodium hypochlorite and organic chemicals (e.g., surfactants, fragrances) contained in several household cleaning products can react to generate chlorinated volatile organic compounds (VOCs).[7] These chlorinated compounds are emitted during cleaning applications, some of which are toxic and probable human carcinogens. The study showed that indoor air concentrations significantly increase (5–52 times for chloroform and 1–1170 times for carbon tetrachloride, respectively above baseline quantities in the household) during the use of bleach containing products. The increase in chlorinated volatile organic compound concentrations was the

Windows® Fax and Scan

One place to scan and fax your documents

FAX You can send and receive faxed documents on your computer without using a fax machine. You can also print, e-mail, or save a copy of your faxes.

To get started:

1. Connect a phone line to your computer.

   If your computer needs an external modem, connect the phone to the modem, and then connect the modem to your computer.

2. On the toolbar, click New Fax.

3. Follow the instructions in the setup wizard to connect to a fax modem, and then, when you're finished, create your fax.

To connect to a fax server instead of a modem, contact your system administrator. For more help with faxing, click the Help button on the toolbar.

SCAN After you add a scanner to your computer, you can preview documents or pictures before you scan them, and then adjust your scan settings for better results. You can also fax or e-mail scanned files to someone else.

To get started:

1. Connect your scanner to your computer by following the instructions that came with your scanner, and then place a document or picture on the scanner.

2. In Windows Fax and Scan, at the bottom of the left pane, click Scan.

3. On the toolbar, click New Scan.

4. Choose the scan settings you want to use, and you're ready to scan.

Use the options on the toolbar to fax, e-mail, print, or copy scans at any time. For more help with scanning, click the Help button on the toolbar.

Kentia palm (Howea forsteriana)

Choose a location that balances your needs with the needs of your kentia palm. Although kentia palms will live in low-light conditions, they thrive in conditions with a lot of light. Choose spot with the most sunlight possible

Plant your kentia palm in a container with adequate drainage and an appropriate growing medium formulated for container growing. Palms that have been planted in a container without drainage holes or in soil formulated for outdoor gardens should be removed and transplanted.

Water the kentia on a regular schedule during summer months and less frequently in the winter. During winter months, check the growing medium around kentia before watering, and water only when it's dry

Clean dust from the leaves of your palm once a month, using a damp rag and a spray bottle filled with water. This is especially important during times of low humidity, because spider mites are attracted to dusty palm leaves and may become a serious problem for your plant.

Fertilize your palm once each season during spring, summer and autumn, using a fertilizer formulated for indoor plants, diluted to half strength

The 'Dumb Blonde' Is A Myth

A lawyer and a blonde woman are sitting next to each other on a long flight from Los Angeles to New York.

The lawyer leans over to her and asks if she would like to play a fun game.

The blonde is tired and just wants to take a nap, so she politely declines and rolls over to the window to catch a few winks.

The lawyer persists, saying that the game is really easy and a lot of fun. He explains how the game works: "I ask you a question, and if you don't know the answer, you pay me, and visa versa."

Again, the blonde politely declines and tries to get some sleep.

The lawyer figures that since his opponent is a blonde he will easily win the match so he makes another offer.

"Okay, how about this, if you don't know the answer you pay me only $5, but if I don't know the answer, I will pay you $500."

This catches the blonde's attention and, figuring that there will be no end to this torment unless she plays, she agrees to play the game.

The lawyer asks the first question. "What's the distance from the earth to the moon?"

The blonde doesn't say a word, reaches into her purse, pulls out a five dollar bill, and hands it to the lawyer.

Now, it's the blonde's turn. She asks the lawyer, "What goes up a hill with three legs, and comes down with four?"

The lawyer looks at her with a puzzled look. He takes out his laptop computer and searches all his references. He taps into the Air phone with his modem and searches the Net and even the Library of Congress. Frustrated, he sends E-mails to all his coworkers and friends he knows. All to no avail. After over an hour of searching for the answer he finally gives up.

He wakes the blonde and hands her $500.

The blonde politely takes the $500 and turns away to get back to sleep.

The lawyer, who is more than a little frustrated, wakes the blonde and asks, "Well, so what goes up a hill with three legs and comes down with four?"

Again without a word, the blonde reaches into her purse, hands the lawyer $5, and goes back to sleep.

The Grief Cycle & The Importance of Grieving

Many Life Advice readers received their Total Control Accounts (TCAs) as the result of losing a loved one. For those whose loss was recent, you may be going through the early stages of grieving and experiencing a series of lasts without your loved one—first birthdays, holidays, and other milestones. For those whose loved one passed years ago, you may still be dealing with the later stages of grief. While grief never truly goes away, it does change.

Grieving your loss—that is, allowing yourself to feel the full effect of your feelings—can help you heal. In our society it can seem that we are under unstated pressure to get on with life before we're ready after we lose a loved one. It may seem as if our friends and family are uncomfortable with our grief. This is why thousands of Americans turn to grief support groups. Having a space to grieve helps healing.

The grieving process has been broken down into five stages:

1 Denial and Isolation. When a loved one dies, denial helps you survive the loss. Denial is characterized by feeling overwhelmed, shocked, and numb. You may deny your feelings; you may wish to avoid talking about your loved one's death. When the reality of your loss hits you, the feelings you were denying surface.

2 Anger. Once denial starts to wear off and feelings begin bubbling up you may feel anger. Anger may be aimed at your deceased loved one, friends and family, co-workers, doctors, complete strangers. For many, anger is a "safe" emotion because it keeps you from feeling the deeper feelings: sadness, despair, fear, and anxiety. For others, feeling angry sums up different emotions—guilt or shame over feeling angry. Be assured that anger is normal and part of the process. Don't judge yourself when you feel angry while grieving.

3 Bargaining. In the bargaining stage, you may have feelings of helplessness and vulnerability. You may wish to find a way to feel in control. Common thoughts during the bargaining phase include:

- If only we'd seen the doctor sooner
- If only I'd prayed more.
- If only I'd been a better person.

Like anger bargaining can be accompanied by guilt or shame. When thoughts that there was something you could have done to prevent the death from occurring allow them to pass through your mind. Try not to grab and hang onto them. Turn negative thinking into a positive affirmation or prayer. Imagine your loved one and silently say, "May you be happy, may you be peaceful, may you be free from suffering." Say that to yourself to a.

4 Depression. Depression can be mild—sadness, loss of energy, loss of interest in usual activities. It can also be severe—feelings of hopelessness and an inability to do ordinary self care (eat, sleep). While depression is part of the process, if your sadness lingers and interferes with your life in a significant way it's time to seek help. Thinking you can't go on, or you won't be able to live without your loved one, also warrants a discussion with your doctor.

5 Acceptance. The final stage of grieving—acceptance—is characterized by the ability to see reality to face your loss and all its implications including, perhaps, a new financial reality. Acceptance doesn't mean you no longer miss your loved one. It means you have accepted life without him or her.

Losses other than death touch off th grieving process. Divorce, job loss, retirement, selling a home, becoming an empty nester and other major life changes all bring up feelings of denial anger, bargaining, and sadness.

Grieving is important to healing. It help you overcome the trauma of loss. Denying your feelings or avoiding the sadness inherent in loss may seem to wor in the short run. But, over the long term avoiding grief can have a negative effect o your health and happ ness. Be kind to yourself and give yourself permission to grieve your losses.

Laundry Rooms

Dear Resident (s),

We would like to inform that we will be installing brand new washer and dryer appliances in both laundry rooms on our property. The installation will occur this Thursday October 13th 2016 and may go into Friday, October 14th 2016. During the installation there will not be any access to the laundry rooms.

The new laundry machines will still be operated by a smart card. Unfortunately, it will not be the same smartcard you currently have. You will be able to purchase a new smart card at the Leasing office with a debit/credit card in the amount of $5.00.

Please note the updated pricing per load has changed. It will be $1.75 to wash and $1.50 to dry.

We would like to thank you in advance for your cooperation and attention to this matter. We would like to provide the best living experience for all of our residents. If you have any questions or added concerns please feel free to contact the Deerpath on the Lake Leasing Office at (813) 933-5333.

Part II. Certification

To establish to the withholding agent that you are a U.S. person, or exempt after, sign Form W-9. You may be requested to sign by the withholding agent even if items 1, 4, or 5 below indicate otherwise.

For a joint account, only the person whose TIN is shown in Part I should sign (when required). In the case of a disregarded entity, the person identified on line 1 must sign. Exempt payees, see Exempt payee code earlier.

Signature requirements. Complete the certification as indicated in items 1 through 5 below.

Individual, sole proprietor, and single-member LLC. You must sign the W-9 if you receive dividends and broker proceeds reported under 1099-DIV and broker proceeds reported under 1099-B during 1099. You must sign the certification for backup withholding and apply. If you are subject to backup withholding and you are merely providing your correct TIN to the person(s) that must issue you that form for the certification applies.

Real estate transactions. You must sign the certification. You may cross out item 2 of the certification.

Other payments. You must give your correct TIN, but you do not have to sign the certification unless you have been notified that you have previously given an incorrect TIN. "Other payments" include payments made in the course of the requestor's trade or business for rents, royalties, goods (other than bills for merchandise), medical or health care services (including payments of corporations), payments to a nonemployee for attorneys' payments made in settlement of payment card and third party network transactions, payments to cash or fishing boat crew members and fishermen, and gross proceeds paid to attorneys (including payments to corporations).

Mortgage interest paid by you, acquisition or abandonment of secured property, cancellation of debt, qualified tuition program payments (under section 529), IRA, Coverdell ESA, Archer MSA or HSA contributions or distributions, and pension distributions. Secure Your Tax Records from Identity Theft

Identity theft occurs when someone uses your personal information such as your name, SSN, or other identifying information, without your permission, to commit fraud or other crimes. An identity thief may use your SSN to get a job or may file a tax return using your SSN to receive a refund.

To reduce your risk:

- Protect your SSN,
- Ensure your employer is protecting your SSN, and
- Be careful when choosing a tax preparer.

If your tax records are affected by identity theft and you receive a notice from the IRS, respond right away to the name and phone number printed on the IRS notice or letter.

If your tax records are not currently affected by identity theft but you think you are at risk due to a lost or stolen purse or wallet, questionable credit card activity or credit report, contact the IRS Identity Theft Hotline at 1-800-908-4490 or submit Form 14039.

For more information, see Publication 4535, Identity Theft Prevention and Victim Assistance.

Victims of identity theft who are experiencing economic harm or a system problem, or are seeking help in resolving the problems that have not been resolved through normal channels, may be eligible for Taxpayer Advocate Service (TAS) assistance. You can reach TAS by calling the TAS toll-free case hotline line at 1-877-777-4778 or TTY/TDD 1-800-829-4059.

Protect yourself from suspicious emails or phishing schemes. Phishing is the creation and use of email and websites designed to mimic legitimate business emails and websites. The most common act is sending an email to a user falsely claiming to be an established legitimate enterprise in an attempt to scam the user into surrendering private information that will be used for identity theft.

The IRS does not initiate business with taxpayers via emails. Also, the IRS does not request personal detailed information through emails or ask taxpayers for the PIN numbers, passwords, or similar secret access information for their credit card, bank, or other financial accounts.

If you receive an unsolicited email claiming to be from the IRS, forward this message to phishing@irs.gov. You may also report misuse of the IRS name, logo, or other IRS property to the Treasury Inspector General for Tax Administration (TIGTA) at 1-800-366-4484. You can forward suspicious websites to the Federal Trade Commission at spam@uce.gov or contact them at www.ftc.gov/idtheft or 1-877-IDTHEFT (1-877-438-4338).

Visit IRS.gov to learn more about identity theft and how to reduce your risk.

Privacy Act Notice

Section 6109 of the Internal Revenue Code requires you to provide your correct TIN to persons (including federal agencies) who are required to file information returns with the IRS to report interest, dividends, or certain other income paid to you; mortgage interest you paid; the acquisition or abandonment of secured property; the cancellation of debt; or contributions you made to an IRA, Archer MSA, or HSA. The person collecting this form uses the information on the form to file information returns with the IRS, reporting the above information. Routine uses to this information include giving it to the Department of Justice for civil and criminal litigation and to cities, states, the District of Columbia, and U.S. commonwealths and possessions for use in administering their laws. The information also may be disclosed to other countries under a treaty, to federal and state agencies to enforce civil and criminal laws, or to federal law enforcement and intelligence agencies to combat terrorism. You must provide your TIN whether or not you are required to file a tax return. Under section 3406, payers must generally withhold a percentage of taxable interest, dividend, and certain other payments to a payee who does not give a TIN to the payer. Certain penalties may also apply for providing false or fraudulent information.

This partition may then be subdivided into multiple logical partitions. This is the way that two or more logical DOS volumes can be placed on a single hard disk.

Alright. I realize that this is somewhat confusing, so let's take a look at some examples of systems, to show you how this scheme is used:

- Single Partition Windows PC - Many PCs have all of their disk space made into a single partition and use one of the FAT file systems. Such a machine would have just a single FAT primary partition on it, and nothing else. The drive letter "C:" for partition 1 on the disk would be empty.
- Multiple Partition Windows PC - To use more than one partition at a time on a DOS/Windows system, two partitions are used. One is a regular DOS primary partition (which becomes the "C:" drive). The other is the extended DOS partition. Within the extended DOS partition all the other logical drives are created. So, I have with four logical drive letters would have the first (C:) be the active primary partition, and the other three (D:, E:, and F:) would be logicals within the extended DOS partition.
- Multiple Operating System PC - A system with multiple operating systems could use one primary partition for each of up to four different file systems.

If you want you can also combine multiple partitions with multiple operating systems. For example, you could have a primary DOS partition, an extended DOS partition and a Linux partition. Such setups are far less common than the simpler examples above.

The extended DOS partition causes most of the confusion on the part of those setting up new DOS/Windows PCs. It really functions as a "container" that holds all DOS partitions except for the first (primary) volume. The reason that this structure was used is that the original design, with its limit of four partitions, was too restrictive. The extended DOS partition system allows you to have up to 24 disk partitions on a single system without violating compatibility with older hardware and software.

Laugh Time

A Pompous Colonel

Having just moved into his new office, a pompous new colonel was sitting at his desk when an airman knocked on the door. Conscious of his new position, the colonel quickly picked up the phone, told the airman to enter, then said into the phone:

"Yes, General, I'll be seeing him this afternoon and I'll pass along your message. In the meantime, thank you for your good wishes, sir."

Feeling as though he had sufficiently impressed the young enlisted man, he asked, "What do you want?"

"Nothing important, sir," the airman replied. "I'm just here to hook up your telephone."

The New CEO

A company, feeling it was time for a shake-up, hires a new CEO. This new dude is determined to rid the wasp pany of all slackers.

On a tour of the facilities, the CEO notices a guy leaning against a wall. The room is full of workers and he wants to let them know he means business!

The CEO walks up to the guy and asks, "And how much money do you make a week?" Undaunted, the young fellow looks at him and replies, "I make $300 a week. Why?"

The CEO then hands the guy $300 in cash and screams, "Here's a week's pay, now GET OUT and don't come back!"

Feeling pretty good about his first firing, the CEO looks around the room and asks, "Does anyone want to tell me what that goof-off did here?"

With a sheepish grin, two of the other workers mutters, "He delivered the pizza."

Some conservatives are already trying to pop the Paul Ryan-for-speaker boomlet

For some conservatives, Rep. Paul Ryan (R-Wisconsin) isn't the savior they're looking for to end the House GOP's gridlock.

A wide swath of Republicans are urging Ryan to run to replace outgoing House Speaker John Boehner (R-Ohio) after his heir apparent stunned Washington on Thursday by ending his own bid for the job.

Everyone from Boehner himself to 2012 Republican presidential nominee Mitt Romney, with whom Ryan ran as his vice-presidential pick, is reportedly urging Ryan to step up.

Ryan initially refused to even consider the possibility but is now apparently mulling it over.

But some Boehner antagonists are letting it be known that Ryan, the chairman of the powerful Ways and Means Committee, is not their ideal alternative.

The Hill documented some of this dissent on Friday.

Rep. Tim Huelskamp (R-Kansas) criticized one of Ryan's biggest legislative achievements, a budget agreement he once reached with Sen. Patty Murray (D-Washington), then the chair of the Senate Budget Committee.

Rep. John Fleming (R-Louisiana) insisted that Ryan is more of a speaker contender in the minds of the media than in the legislative chamber itself.

"I think that's more media-driven. I think that's you guys who keep talking about Paul Ryan," Fleming told The Hill. "Paul has made it clear he's not interested."

Some conservative news websites also criticized Ryan's conservative credentials. Breitbart News ran a pair of stories Friday titled "FLASHBACK: Paul Ryan Worked For John Boehner In College" and "Rep. Paul Ryan Backed Soviet-Style Law To Decide Workers' Wages." The Conservative Review published a piece titled, "Paul Ryan is the Absolute Worst Choice for Speaker."

And RedState's Erick Erickson warned that Ryan would be a "dangerous pick" for conservatives.

"In a world of modern media, Ryan would make an attractive Speaker with a young, fresh face and a comfortable demeanor in front of the camera. But he would make it very difficult for House conservatives because to oppose Ryan is, in the minds of much of the press, to oppose conservatism itself," Erickson wrote while detailing Ryan's work with establishment-oriented Republicans.

"That's not true. But that story line is already baked in."

Others conservatives aren't as critical. Rep. Justin Amash (R-Michigan), part of his chamber's right flank, told The Hill that Ryan would be better than either Boehner or House Majority Leader Kevin McCarthy (R-California), who shocked Washington by withdrawing his speaker bid on Thursday.

"I think that Paul Ryan would be a more acceptable candidate than the current leadership team primarily because he is not in the current leadership team," Amash said. "And I believe he'd provide a different approach."

Prayer to St. Joseph over 1900 years old

O St. Joseph whose protection is so great, so strong, so prompt before the Throne of God, I place in you all my interests and desires. O St. Joseph do assist me by your powerful intercession and obtain for me from your Divine Son all spiritual blessings through Jesus Christ, Our Lord; so that having engaged here below your Heavenly power I may offer my Thanksgiving and Homage to the most Loving of Fathers. O St. Joseph, I never weary contemplating you and Jesus asleep in your arms. I dare not approach while He reposes near your heart. Press him in my name and kiss His fine Head for me, and ask Him to return the Kiss when I draw my dying breath. St. Joseph, Patron of departing souls, pray for us. Amen

Say for nine consecutive mornings for anything you may desire. It has seldom been known to fail.

This prayer was found in the fiftieth year of Our Lord Jesus Christ. In 1500's it was sent by the Pope to Emperor Charles when he was going into battle.

Whoever reads this prayer or hears it or carries it, will never die a sudden death, nor be drowned, nor will poison take effect on them. They will not fall into the hands of the enemy nor be burned in any fire, nor will they be defeated in battle.

Make this prayer known everywhere.

About Pre-Planning

Dying is one of the few events in life that is certain to occur, yet one we are not likely to plan for. Should we really spend more time preparing for two weeks away from work than we do our last days on Earth?

This section will help you make decisions for the future by explaining what pre-arrangement is, what is involved, and what options are available.

Pre-Payment Options
There are a growing number of options available to the public today when seeking to preplan and prepay their final wishes. We can tailor a plan that's right for you from single pay plans to automatic monthly bank withdrawals designed to meet anyone's budget concerns. Our staff would be pleased to outline the choices available.

Pre-paying can protect you and your family from future inflationary trends while providing the piece of mind of knowing that they will be cared for after you are gone. Below you will find more detailed explanations of the plans that we have available. If you would like to request an appointment after you have reviewed this information, we would be pleased to have one of our staff go over any additional questions you might have.

Fax Toy

Random Stuff Sent From Your Fax Machine
Fax something interesting toll free to 1-888 877 1655 or 1 503-200-1300

To the right are pages that folks have faxed us recently. Click any thumbnail to see the large version and rate it for interestingness.

You can fax something interesting to 1 888 877 1655 (your boss will never notice... maybe) or 1 503 200-1300 (long distance to Portland, Oregon) and it should appear here within a couple of minutes. (If it's a toll free number if you're in the USA.) Keep it clean & legal.

Fax single page documents with no cover sheet. If you fax more than one page, only the last page will appear here. We try to snip off the top few pixels of the page where your company name and fax number should appear, but make no promises that this will actually work.

Privacy Policy. We hate spam and junk faxes, and will absolutely not send you any unsolicited e-mail or faxes. We won't share your information with marketers or anyone else.

Required Monthly Reading

This is something we should all read at least once a month

Written By Regina Brett, 90 years old, of The Plain Dealer Cleveland , Ohio

"To celebrate growing older I once wrote the 45 lessons life taught me. It is the most-requested column I've ever written."

My odometer rolled over to 90 in August, so here is the column once more:

1 Life isn't fair, but it is still good
2. When in doubt, just take the next small step.
3 Life is too short to waste time hating anyone
4 our job won't take care of you when you are sick Your friends and parents will Stay in touch
5 Pay off your credit cards every month
6 You don't have to win every argument Agree to disagree.
7 Cry with someone. It's more healing than crying alone
8 It's OK to get angry with God. He can take it.
9 Save for retirement starting with your first paycheck
10 When it comes to chocolate, resistance is futile
11 Make peace with your past so it won't screw up the present.
12. It's OK to let your children see you cry.
13. Don't compare your life to others. You have no idea what their journey is all about 14 If a relationship has to be a secret,you should'n't be in it.
15 Everything can change in the blink of an eye. But don't worry; God never blinks.
16. Take a deep breath. It calms the mind
17 Get rid of anything that isn't useful, beautiful or joyful
18 Whatever doesn't kill you really does make you stronger
19 It's never too late to have a happy childhood. But the second one is up to you and no one else.
20 When it comes to going after what you love in life don't take no for an answer
21 Burn the candles use the nice sheets wear the fancy lingerie. Don't save it for a special occasion. Today is special
22 Over prepare..then go with the flow
23 Be eccentric now. Don't wait for old age to wear purple
24 The most important sex organ is the brain. 25 No one is in charge of your happiness but you
25 Frame every so-called disaster with these words 'In five years, will this matter? 27 Always choose life
26 Forgive everyone everything

Framed Desktop LCD Privacy Filter Assembly Instructions

OPTION A

TO APPLY PF300 SERIES FILTERS USING COMMAND™ FASTENERS

1. Separate Command™ fastening strips at perforations. Connect fasteners by folding strip in half and pressing firmly together until they snap

2. Apply fasteners to a clean, dry surface if surface clean with rubbing alcohol and allow to dry before proceeding. Remove filter from one side of connected fasteners. Position fasteners on side B where Place Command Here is imprinted on the frame (all four corners), rounded release tabs must be pointed toward outer edge of filter. Press firmly in place. Repeat with each set of strips. If monitor design does not allow all four sets to be used, use two sets of strips on the top of the monitor. Command™ fasteners may be placed anywhere on the monitor frame but must be placed on the B side of the filter

3. Center privacy filter over monitor screen, press firmly for 30 seconds.

4. From the bottom of the filter, gently peel the filter off the monitor completely separating the fasteners. For best results, wait one filter before re-hanging the filter

5. Reattach filter by pressing fasteners on filter to fasteners on monitor until they snap

TO REMOVE

1. Remove the filter by gently and steadily peeling it off the monitor beginning with the bottom of the filter frame. Do not pull straight toward you as you remove. Pull out while raising up the filter

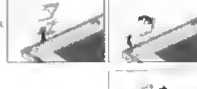
2. To remove fasteners, DO NOT peel the adhesive strip off or pull the tab at an angle the tab could break. Instead, lightly press the area of the fastener onto the Command™ feature (square strip) and S L O W L Y pull the portion of the tab with no adhesive (rounded edge) straight, stretching the fastener part of the monitor frame until the strip releases. DO NOT pull up or out from the monitor. Repeat for remaining fastener strips on the filter

OPTION B

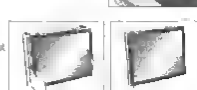
USING HANGER ARMS TO ATTACH YOUR FILTER

1. Locate hanger arms in the tray holding the Computer Filter securely in the package. Please note: the red dot on the upper right corner of the filter frame indicates the front of the filter. This side should face you when on your monitor because it has a high quality anti-reflective coating to help increase your viewing comfort.

2. Attach the hanger arms facing the back of the filter as shown.



3. Hang filter on your monitor. Remove red dot on frame of surface



Read on troubleshooting is a process that combines knowledge, experience, and intuition. As you practice service and support in a work environment, you will add to your experience and develop intuition that will help you to quickly solve a variety of problems.

Regardless of your current troubleshooting abilities, you will benefit from following a systematic approach to problem-solving. The following process has proven effective in a variety of situations:

1. Identify the symptoms and potential causes. Ask the user to describe the problem, check for error messages, and recreate the problem. Find out the scope of the problem. For example, is the problem affecting one user, a group of users, or an entire network segment?
2. Identify the affected area and determine how large the problem is. For example, is the problem limited to one client workstation or does it affect multiple workstations?
3. Establish what has changed. Most often, problems are caused by new hardware, new software, or changes to the configuration. If necessary, ask questions to discover what might have changed that could have caused the problem.
4. Review the list of potential causes and select the most probable cause. Look for common errors or solutions that can be fixed quickly.
5. Escalate the problem if it is beyond your ability to fix or your scope of management. For example, the problem might be in a router configured by an ISP that you are not authorized to control. When escalating the problem on to someone else, be sure to describe the nature of the problem, the actions you have already taken, and the symptoms that led you to believe the problem is outside of your area of responsibility.
6. Create an action plan and solution that is designed to fix the problem. Your plan might include purchasing hardware or equipment that need approval from management. In addition, your plan might involve taking some services offline for a period of time. Identify the effects ahead of time and plan how you will minimize or reduce any potential negative consequences.
7. Implement the action plan and solution. Make sure that you have the appropriate tools and resources when working on the problem. If necessary, implement additional steps to correct the problem if your first solution did not work. After you think you have resolved the problem, test the result.
8. Identify the results and effects of the solution. Make sure that the solution has fully fixed the problem and has not caused any other problems.
9. Document the solution and process. In the future, you can check your documentation to see what has changed or to help you research the solution to common problems.

Remember, however, that troubleshooting is a process of both deduction and induction. Experience will help you when deviating from this process can save both time and effort.

How to Reset the Kill Switch in a 2003 Jaguar XJ8

by Blake Johnson

The 2003 Jaguar XJ8 includes several safety features designed to help reduce vehicle-related accidents and injuries. In addition to a supplemental restraint system, automatic headlamps and other common safety items, the 2003 XJ8 also employs an inertia switch that will disable the electronic fuel pump in the event of an accident. The inertia "kill" switch may also deactivate the fuel pump after the vehicle sustains a substantial jolt or bump. Resetting the inertia switch will restore proper functionality to the vehicle's fuel pump.

Examine the vehicle for damage and fuel leakage, if involved in an accident. Do not attempt to start the vehicle after sustaining heavy mechanical damage.

Open the driver door and place the ignition in the "0" position.

Examine the lower driver's side rocker trim area, located near the foot well, beneath the dash panel. Insert your index finger into the large access hole labeled "RESET." Press the red-colored inertia switch button, located inside the access hole.

Release the inertia switch button and turn the ignition key to the "0" position. After five seconds, switch the ignition back to the "I" position.

Complete the process by checking underneath the vehicle for fuel leaks, before starting the engine.

Protect yourself and others from the flu

What healthcare professionals need to know about influenza immunization

INFLUENZA IS A SERIOUS DISEASE

It is estimated that in a given year up to 20 000 hospitalizations related to influenza may occur and approximately 4 000 Canadians die annually from influenza and its complications.

YOU NEED TO BE VACCINATED EVERY YEAR

[illegible]

THE INFLUENZA VACCINE CANNOT GIVE YOU INFLUENZA

Influenza vaccines cannot cause influenza because the viruses in the vaccines are either killed (inactivated influenza vaccine) or weakened (live attenuated influenza vaccine).

[illegible]

[illegible]

THE INFLUENZA VACCINE IS EFFECTIVE

In Canada, the influenza vaccine protects against three strains of influenza viruses that are the experts anticipate will be circulating during the influenza season. Multiple studies have shown that influenza vaccine to be efficacious depending on the age and health status of the individual receiving the vaccine and the match with circulating influenza strains. Dear Pete,

Permit me to introduce you to the facility of facsimile transmission.

In facsimile a photocell is caused to perform a raster scan over the subject copy. The variations of print density on the document cause the photocell to generate an analogous electrical video signal. This signal is used to modulate a carrier, which is transmitted to a remote destination over a radio or cable communications link.

At the remote terminal, demodulation reconstructs the video signal, which is used to modulate the density of print produced by a printing device. This device is scanning in a manner exactly synchronised with that of the transmitting terminal. As a result, a facsimile copy of the subject document is produced.

Probably you have uses for this facility in your organisation.

Yours sincerely,

Phil.

Did god say that they could decide
Who will live and who will die?
All my mama ever did
Was try to take care of her kids

When innocence is standing by
Watching people loosing lives
It seem as if we have no voice
It's time for us to make a choice

Only god could decide
Who will live and who will die
There's nothing that can't be done
If we raise our voice as one

Did god hear it from me?
Did god hear it from you?
Did god hear it from us?

We can't take it
We've already had enough

Did god hear it from me?
Did god hear it from you?
Did god hear it from us?

We can't take it
We've already had enough

Thank god I care for me
Thank god I care for you
Thank god it came from you babe

We can't take it
We've already had enough

Deep in my soul baby
Deep in your soul and by your side
Deep in my soul
It's so big and I'm still alive
Did god hear it from us?
We can't take it
We've already had enough
It's going down baby
Just let god decide,
It's going on baby
Just let god decide
Deep in my soul baby
We've already had enough
Did god hear it from me?
Did god hear it from you?
Did god hear it from us?
We can't, we can't
We've already had enough

Hélas, impossible de modifier l'ordre de présentation de la section « débats » — c'est-à-dire les éditoriaux et chroniques — avec l'option de personnalisation.

SIGNS OF LIFE

Outside a hotel "Help! We need inn-experienced people"
On a music teacher's door "Out Chopin"
On the door of a music library "Bach in a minute"
– At a farmer's field "The farmer allows walkers to cross the field for free, but the bull charges"
– In a podiatrist's window "I me wounds all heels
On a front door "Everyone on the premises is a vegetarian except the dog."
Non smoking area "If we see you smoking, we will assume you are on fire and take appropriate action"
On maternity room door "Push. Push. Push"
Sign on fence: "Salesmen welcome dog food is expensive"
Muffler shop "No appointment necessary. We'll hear you coming."
Veterinarian's waiting room "Be back in 5 minutes. Sit! Stay!"
– Optometrist's office "If you don't see what you're looking for, you've come to the right place"

A mid-level executive was so frustrated at being passed over for promotion year after year, that, in frustration, he went to a brain-transplant center in the hope of raising his I.Q. 20 points.
After a battery of physical and psychological tests, he was told by the center's director that he was an acceptable candidate.
"That's great!" the executive said. "But I understand that this procedure can be really expensive."
"Yes, sir, it can," the director replied. "An ounce of accountant's brain, for example, costs one thousand dollars, an ounce of an economist's brain costs two thousand, an ounce of a corporate president's is forty-five thousand. An ounce of a politician's brain is seventy-five thousand dollars."
"Seventy-five thousand dollars for an ounce of a politician's brain? Why on earth is that?"
"Do you have any idea," the director asked, "how many politicians we would have to kill?"

An airhead was bragging about her knowledge of state capitals. She proudly says, "Go ahead, ask me, I know all of them."
A friend says, "Ok, what's the capital of Wisconsin?"
The airhead replies, "Oh, that's easy. W."

TRIVIA How American is beef? Beef seems so American, but it was actually an import. Spaniards brought the first cattle to the United States in the sixteenth century. Originally, the settlers regarded them as beasts of burden, but the Indians found them delicious. The Indians, in fact, were the first cattle herders, and they were the ones who moved the cattle across the Mississippi River to the grasslands of the plains.

Think of all the beauty that's still left in and around you, and be happy! Anne Frank

Test Pattern 1.0

This here be some text. We want at least one page of text included in this testing because text is usually what people transmit in a fax – like a contract page with a signature. Don't get me wrong, graphics are fine but text gives us that warm and fuzzy feeling that the testing is rooted in simulating real-world scenarios.

Graphics, on the other hand, allow us to see minute transmission flaws that are easily overlooked in a text message. The brain is a wonderful thing, and can cause us to overleak small missing details. Take, for example, the car company called KIA. Have you ever noticed that the "A" is missing the bar? It looks like a "A".

There are other examples of how the brain will fill in missing pieces of characters, or even whole words. I won't bore you with more details. The point is that text is not the best transmission to prove a fax system is working correctly.

Because the human brain is adept at recognizing patterns, the following pattern pages will easily allow one to detect even a small fax issue.

The police officer got out of his car and the kid who was stopped for speeding rolled down his window. "I've been waiting for you all day," said the officer. The kid replied, "Yeah, well I got here as fast as I could". When the cop finally stopped laughing, he sent the kid on his way without a ticket.

Enter "LLAMAMIYE" as a name.

Throw further
When you are throwing a item or a bottle, hold (L) to throw it harder and further

Escaping a room full of soldiers.
Take a sticky camera or smoke grenades and throw it near where the dead guards are located. Per the sticky camera, a red laser bar tells you how to make a hole or an smoke will appear at the bottom of the screen. Throw the smoke grenade and the smoke cancel there out some guards. When the smoke appears from the grenade(s), it is your chance to run for it

Chinese Embassy 2
When you came to the room with the sleeping guards you can avoid two of the guards by not continuing on to the next room, but instead, stick to the med kit, ammo, and frag grenade and go back the way you came in. Continue to the door at the end of the hall. On the left the code for the door is 1436.

The game now hypnotes a part where two guards come and open the door. This way you never see these two guards the part after a will save you stressed out enough as it is!

Knock out an enemy:
To knock out an enemy without killing him, levels the sticky camera and shoot it at his head. Aim slightly above the head to compensate for gravity. After he is down, pick up the sticky camera and use it again

Defense Ministry: Getting to the South Hall Wing
After interrogating the driver and beating both upstairs, save at the checkpoint and view the cutscene shows. However, if the window in the courtyard opening. Walk out on the balcony and turn left. Jump on the rain gutter on the wall. Move along the gutter towards the open window. If an alarm goes off you have not properly hidden your dead bodies. Move back through the level and those all you dead bodies are dark corners

Defense Ministry: Ninjaing a office:
Once you rappel through the open window and kill the guard, enable the computer in the far right corner of the level first. Then, access the room (Ninjaing) computer maybe to the window. Immediately run back in the window and time out, but stay near to the ledge so that you will grab hold of it and hang out with the window closed a if enter and search the office. They will not see you if you remain hanging out the window. They will clear the room, then leave. You can now access the computer again (as instructed by HQ). Then, proceed with caution when reaching your extraction point

Luring your enemy:
To do this find a can or glass bottle in pick up. Once obtained, move to a location, preferably dark. While hidden, throw the can or bottle to an open area with an enemy nearby. When thrown, the enemy will wonder what happened and walk towards that location. After you have drawn him out, you can take him out for an easy kill.

Flip off wall
In other to flip off a wall, move against the Wall and press (Y). You will backflip off the wall.

Shooting lights accurately
When you want to shoot out a light and dead make it accurate turn on your best action. You should be best to shoot out the light there and faster

You can zoom up with the SC-20K after you have drawn it out by pressing (Y). After that, you can also center the screen by tracking (L). You only have a limited time before it runs out. However, this is useful when you want to shoot lights very accurately

Shooting the SC bolest accurately
Use the following hint to make a perfect headshots and other hits with the SC Pistol or any other non lethal ammunition of the SC-20K. To play the SC-20K, either sniper mode, hold your breath ((L)) and aim for a bodyshot or anything else. Then, without moving either Analog-stick (movement or camera) change your weapon in the SC Pistol or use the SC-20K in normal mode (for any other not lethal ammunition) and fire. Alternately you can set the aim with the normal binoculars at full zoom (easier).

Disabling Wall bolest
Slowly go up to a Wall Mine. You'll flash red and green at an given pace. To guards this, you have to press (Action) when it flashes green. If it becomes red the bolest smoke you press (Action), it will explode. The way to always do this levels is to hold (Action) bolest when the "Limited Wall Mine" selection appears. Then, it it is green, release the bolest. If it is red on the screen, move the selection up to "Back To Game" and try again.

Sniping with the SC-20K
When using the sn per mode of the SC-20K bolest (Y) when it is equipped), you can hold (L) to make Sam hold his breath and aim more accurately. You can use this to clear out rooms or open doors from afar without letting anyone spot you. The safest way is to wait for a guard to step in his sights. Then, hold (L) set the target on his head and take the shot. This is extremely helpful in the first few levels from when you pickup the SC-20K. However, when you get to the Lebanon mission you must be extremely careful as the guards can see you from a lot further can see you in the shadows, and also have more powerful weapons. You must exercise extreme caution. From Hoverver onward, if there are multiple guards in the room, your best choice of action is to run a smoke grenade, if they are touched up. If not, then do not go in commando-style because the guards from here on out are much more powerful than in previous levels

Background Information on Buddhism

Directions: The following information will help your group create a character collage on Buddhism. Each group member reads a section of the handout and leads a discussion of the questions following that section.

Buddhism is a belief system based on the life and teachings of Siddhartha Gautama, known as the Buddha. Gautama was a prince who lived in India from 563 to 483 B.C. According to legend, Gautama led a luxurious and sheltered life in his palace. One day his comfortable life was shattered when he saw a man who was very sick, another who was old and feeble, and a third who had died. Gautama realized that life was an endless cycle of pain, and the only way to escape it was by seeking wisdom. So, Gautama left the palace and for six years tried to find wisdom through harsh discipline and suffering. For days at a time he ate only a single grain of rice each day. Despite his efforts, Gautama felt only pain, not wisdom and insight about life. Finally, at the age of 35, after meditating deeply for many days in the shade of a tree, Gautama suddenly felt that the truth about life became clear to him. Thereafter, he was known as the Buddha, or the "Enlightened One."

Stop Here for Discussion

- Who was the Buddha?
- Why did Gautama begin his quest for wisdom and truth?
- How did he discover the truth about life?

Many of the important foundations of Buddhism were stated in a sermon the Buddha gave shortly after his meditative experience. Buddha taught these four main ideas, known as the Four Noble Truths:

- First Noble Truth: Suffering and sorrow are part of life. The Buddha believed people everywhere were subject to pain, sickness, and death.
- Second Noble Truth: The cause of suffering and sorrow is people's self-centered desires. People seek pleasure that cannot last and leads only to more suffering. If people did not want wealth, power, pleasure, and fame, they would not be disappointed and unhappy when they do not have these things.
- Third Noble Truth: The way to escape suffering is to overcome desires and reach a state of "not wanting."
- Fourth Noble Truth: People can overcome their desires and reach the state of enlightenment (release from pain and selfishness), or nirvana, by following the Middle Path. The Middle Path involves leading an ethical (morally correct), compassionate life, in which one meditates and participates in rituals.

Stop Here for Discussion

- Summarize the Four Noble Truths in your own words.
- What do Buddhists believe causes suffering in life?
- How does a person follow the Middle Path?

An MIT study found that the chance of dying on a scheduled flight in the United States is one in 14 million. At that rate, you would have to fly every day for 38 thousand years before getting caught in a fatal accident.

So despite and in fact because of some of these scary fast crashes, even when all seems hopeless, surviving a plane crash is possible, even likely.

HOW TO REFUEL YOUR LIGHTER

For your safety, please read and obey the following instructions.

- Do not refill the lighter immediately after using it, you need to allow enough time to cool off.
- The flame height adjuster on the bottom of the lighter should be set to minimum. Use the small screwdriver to turn the adjusting screw to clockwise to tighten the gas valve. Some models have adjusting wheel that requires no screwdriver. Lighters sold to metal gift boxes have special Key for this purpose.
- Push the refilling valve in with screwdriver to be out the air inside until no hissing sound is heard. Hold lighter away from face. Air in the fuel tank prevents butane gas from being injected into the tank and causes the malfunction of the lighters.
- Always refill lighter to an upside down position.
- Shake the butane gas refill can, press the stem of the refill can directly onto the refill valve in straight position on the bottom of the lighter and let the gas go into the lighter for about 5 seconds. You may repeat for another round for shorter period.
- If you experience the gas leakage with hissing sound while refilling the lighter: either you are not holding the lighter and gas can in straight position or the stem of the gas can is not suitable for lighter. In this case you need to use adapter that is supplied with the fuel.
- Allow 3-4 minutes until gas and lighter components reach room temperature.
- Tune the flame adjuster slowly counter clockwise to reach the desired flame height.
- Hold the lighter away from face or body and ignite it carefully. If the flame height is too high, turn the adjuster back to - mark. If the flame height is too low, turn it slowly to + mark and try again.
- If there is no flame, there is a big chance that lighter has not been filled, try the refilling process again.
- Use only well-known brand name gas refill cans. Impurity of the gas will cause congestions and malfunctioning.

- Finally a few safety tips:
- Do not stem your lighter close to source of heat or the such as stove, radiator, or fireplace.
- KEEP AWAY FROM CHILDREN! Always keep away from reach of children; playing with the and light is amazing to them, which may cause unforgivable results.

Obama, Romney Shoots First, Aims Later

Just in case you haven't followed the Egypt, bye story very briefly: on Sept. 11 a Florida pastor, Terry Jones, put a video on YouTube denouncing the Sept. 11 screen rip off a video mocking the Prophet Mohammed. Many people in the Muslim world, not realizing that the U.S. government is not control crazy fakemongers, were furious. Early on Sept. 11 the U.S. Embassy in Cairo, which was worried about being attacked, tweeted: "US Embassy condemns relig (sic) motivated vio h, was clear by afraid al Jamaa Later in the day demonstrators stormed the embassy in Cairo and tore down the American flag. In Libya a mob stormed the American consulate in Benghazi. Jihadists took advantage of this and killed the American Ambassador to Libya J. Christopher Stevens, and three other diplomats.

Shortly thereafter (but before he knew what had actually occurred), Mitt Romney said a post "It's disgraceful that the Obama Administration's first response was not to condemn attacks on our diplomatic missions but to sympathize with those who waged the attacks." Romney's statement was reinforced by a tweet from RNC Chairman Reince Priebus at 12:01 A.M. on Sept. 12 saying "Obama sympathizes with attackers in Egypt. Sad and pathetic. Here is a minute-by-minute timeline of the fast-moving events.

The only problem is that Romney's and Priebus' statements are completely false. Both Obama and Secretary of State Hillary Clinton condemned the attacks in the strongest possible words and certainly didn't sympathize with the attackers. Romney is now unfit. He is from the media and else from Republicans for making a false statement before he knew the facts. Republican leaders in the House and Senate, realizing that Romney blundered by introducing new politics at a time when Americans would normally come together, have been conspicuously silent.

On Wednesday Obama spoke with reporters and said: And, Buck -- you know, Governor Romney seems to have a tendency to shoot first and aim later. And as president, one of the things I've learned is you can't do that. This event is certainly going to reverberate for several days and raise the question of whether Romney has the temperament to be Commander-in-Chief. It is sure to come up during the next presidential debate, just before the election, and which will be about foreign policy.
